FIRST SESSION. Tuesday, January 29, 1856.

The Senate was not in session to day.

House of Representatives. Mr. UNDERWOOD offered a resolution that every member of the House be voted for in rotation until some one shall receive a majority of the votes cast, provided it be a majority of a quorum. If no Speaker be elected in this way, a selection shall be made from the two who shall have received the highest number of votes. While thus voting no debate nor personal explanations shall be in order except by unanimous consent.

Mr. RICHARDSON remarked the difficulty was that they had already too many candidates and the resolution makes more.

Mr. UNDERWOOD said he would not press

Mr. CRAWFORD gave notice that he would to morrow offer a resolution to elect a Speaker in one of the ways provided in the Constitution for the election of a President—namely, by States; each State casting one vote for that officer.

Mr. A. K. MARSHALL offered a resolution

Mr. A. K. MARSHALL offered a resolution suggesting the duty of the respective parties in the House withdrawing their nominations, leaving each member free from the control of caucus dictation, so that the House may make a selection of such a Speaker as the best interests of the country require. Though offered without consultation with the American party, he ventured that, if the resolution passed, they would be ready to accede to one of two propositions. First—They will name a man of the Democratic party and unite on him; or, secondly—the Democrats may take a candidate from the American, both parties voting for him. He knew if a candidate be selected from the Americans they could elect him.

Mr. MILLSON said he thought the election of a Speaker had probably been defeated by the nominations made at the commencement of the session. Much blame was attributable to all parties, and he took his share of the censure.

sion. Much blame was attributable to all parties, and he took his share of the censure. Mr. ALLISON said that the resolution related the principles of squatter sovereignty as asserted by the Democratic party—letting the people take care of themselves. The Republicans have se-lected their candidate—let them be governed by their own ideas of propriety, without outside in Mr. COBB, of Georgia, justified the Democratic

Ar. COBB, or Georgia, Justined the Democratic caucus. He had no idea of making its asserted principles offensive to any party. He believed the best interests of the country would suffer if those principles would be sacrificed in order to elect a Speaker.

Mr. WHITNEY opposed the resolution. He would be bound by no caucus or combination to support the Administration in its present posi-

Mr. CULLEN considered the resolution of the Democratic cancus as offensive in its terms and insulting to the American party.

Mr. McMULLEN vindicated the Democratic caucus Never, since Mr. FULLER, of Pennsylvania, defined his position, could a combination of the latter's and Mr. Orr's friends have effected an election. It was time enough to propose a fusion of these forces when it was shown that they can Succeed in the choice of a Speaker.

Mr. RICHARDSON called attention to the fact that while one American (Mr. Marshall) proposed a union, two other members of that party (Messrs. Whitney and Cullen) said they could vote for no democrat. Frankness required him to say, that if the National Americans desire a connection, they must come to the democrats.

Mr. MARSHALL here withdrew his res

Mr. STEWART, of Maryland, offered a reso lution that, with the concurrence of the Senate, if no Speaker be elected before the 15th of February, the House adjourn until the 15th of May. In the course of his remarks, in advocacy of his resolution, he said that the members, after consulting with their constituents, might return hither and make an election, such an event being, appa-

House of Representatives.

Mr. CRAWFORD, of Georgia, offered the following resolution:

Be u resolved, That the House of Representatives do now proceed to the election of a Speaker in the same way and manner as is provided by the Constitution of the United States for the election of the President thereof whenever the same shall devolve upon the House. That is to say The Clerk shall call the roll by States, and each State cast one vote, as the same shall be called, and the person having a majority of the States shall be the Speaker of the House of Representa-tives for the Thirty-fourth Congress.

Mr. CRAWFORD said he had no very strong hope that the resolution would be adopted by the House, but he desired a direct vote, in order to see who may be disposed to organize the House by the election of a presiding officer. The House was absolutely bringing itself into contempt. There is less anxiety on the part of the people relative to an organization sow, than there was four weeks ago. He offered the proposition that gentlemen who are States Rights men may keep constantly in view the fact that this governme is composed of separate and independent sover-eignties. In the event of a failure thus to organize he was willing that both Houses adjourn.

Mr. TODD was opposed to the adoption of the resolution, considering that it would be repugnant to the constitution of this body. Members were here to represent the people, and not States or independent constituencies—the people as a mass, and not independent sovereignties. The rule was applicable to the Senate, but not to the House It would be unequal, because it would place the power of organization in the hands of a minority, subversion of the spirit of our institutions. gentlemen were anxious to organize on the exressed will of the larger number of the people, t them give way to the majority of the North. on, he moved that the resolution lie on

The question having been taken, it was decided the affirmative—yeas 135, nays 72.
Mr. CLINGMAN offered the following resolu-

Resolved, That the House will proceed imme diately to the election of a Speaker, viva voce. If, after the roll shall have been called three times, no member shall have received a majority of the whole number of votes, the roll shall again be called, and the member who shall then receive the largest number of votes, provided it be a majority of a quosum, shall be declared duly elected Speaker.

Mr. CLINGMAN explained the reasons which the resolution. He said influenced him in offering the resolution. He said that a majority must concur in the election, leaving the "Americans" to take their choice be tween Messrs. One and Banks.

Mr. HERBERT moved an amendment, that the resolution take effect to morrow; and appealed to all truly conservative men to oppose the election of Mr. Banks, who was willing, in certain contingencies, to "let the Union slide," and who, in the presence of this entire House, had expressed doubt as to the superiority of the white man the negro.

Mr. LETCHER opposed the resolution. He could not recognise a principle which was calculated to place the South at a greater disadvantage than she now occupies. The result of the elec-tion, under the adoption of the resolution, would be fixed and certain—the election of Mr. Banks.

Mr. HERBERT withdrew his amendment.
Mr. BOYCE said that the adoption of the resolution would result in the election of Mr. Banks, which would be one of the greatest misfortunes to the country, on account of the political prin-ciples which that gentleman entertains. Men are nothing, principles everything. The principles of the party with which Mr. Banks acts, if carried out, would be the death of the constitution, and Mr. BENNETT, of New York thought, that,

under present cheumstances, the plurality rule

Mr. HUMPHREY MARSHALL anticipated Mr. HUMPHREY MARSHALL anticipated that the resolution would be adopted, and he expected that the democrats, as a party, would vote against it. But he thought there would be a sufficient diversion from their ranks to effect the purchase and the sufficient diversion from their ranks to effect the purchase and the sufficient diversion from their ranks to effect the purchase and the sufficient diversions and the sufficient diversions are sufficient to the sufficient diversion from their ranks to effect the sufficient diversion from the sufficient pose, and the people would hold them responsible for the consequences as much as they would the man who would throw a lighted squib into a Mr. GREENWOOD moved that the resolution be laid on the table, but the motion did not pre-vail—the vote being a tie—yeas 108, nays 108. The main question was ordered to be put—yeas 08, nays 107.

The plurality resolution was then rejected yeas 106, nays 110. The House adjourned.

ENGLISH, FRENCH, AND AMERICAN FASHIONS, 1856.

GEORGE P. FOX Has arrived at Willard's Hotel, Washington, D. C.

In the delay attending the organization of the House, it is a matter of congratulation that the members of both branches of the National Legislature can, without violating their solitical principles, settle upon one popular candidate for their favor. Mr. Fox, in his capacity as a Tailor, representing commerce, has ever merited and continues to receive the distinguished title of Leader of Fashions of the United States To that laudable distinction he has been elevated by the unanimous suffrages of the people He has had the happy faculty of uniting the dissentient voices in the realm of fashion, and now represents them in one undivided sentiment The House of Representatives has been at a loss for a leader for some time, but the Representative of Fashion is always organized. The fashions in the plastic hand of art is to the skill of the artist what the disorganized elements of the Representative Assembly are to the genius of the orator. The one succumbs to the taste of the artist, the other is subdued by the eloquence of the orator. What the latter is to the Congres sional Assembly, George P. Fox is to the Popula Assembly of Fashion. We have thus far instituted a parallel, but parallels only run closely to certain point, thence they diverge, and thus it is with our leaders of fashions and our leaders of politics. The Speaker of Fashion (for such we will designate our representative) is never at a loss for the right fit on the right man, and the right man is never at a loss for the right fit when he applies to our leader. His vote is never cast away, nor yet his money. Both are equally well and safely invested. Unanimity of opinion cannot be supposed to always exist in political as-semblies of men representing a diversity of prin-ciples, but in the realm of fashion there can be but one opinion, and that is, that there is but one American fashion and Ggo. P. Fox is its leader.

THE NEW YORK OBSERVER ON ISMS .- The New York Observer, a valuable religious paper, has been enlarged and typographically improved. In announcing the enlargement, Dr. Morse, the senior editor, says it is just forty years since he "founded the Boston Recorder, the oldest religious newspaper in the world," and he also gives a sketch of his faith, in which he says:

"We believe that Socialism, Owenism, Fourerism, Abolitionism, and all the various isms and schemes for the reform of the great evils of society on other than Bible principles, will prove not only a miserable failure, but an awful curse to the communities which cherish them."

PROTESTANT HOSPITAL IN NEW ORLEANS.-The Will of an Old Bachelor .- The New Orleans Delta, announcing the death of Mr. John D. Fink, a wealthy old bachelor of that city, says:

"The value of his succession, we are in formed, may be safely estimated at $500,000; of this immense amount he has left about $60,000 to his friends and relatives. He concludes by devoting the remainder of his large fortune to the purpose of erecting an asylum for desti-tute Protestant widows, to be called the 'Fink Asylum,' and authorizes Mr. Buellerdeick to appoint three trustees to carry the latter portion of the will into effect. Finally, he wills that his body shall be interred in the Protest ant Cemetery on Girod street, and a marble nonument erected over it, fenced in with an iron railing—the whole cost of which is not to exceed $2,000."

THE BLUE RIDGE RAILROAD .- The Virginia Board of Public Works have reported to the Legislature of that State that so far $1,234,255 have been expended on this road. The road is 17 miles long, over 13 miles of which are now used. There remains to be completed 650 feet of the main tunnel, and 138 feet of the Brooksville Tunnel.

PAID FIREMEN VS. VOLUNTEERS .- The Mayor of Newark, N. J., states, in his annual message, that the expense of the paid fire department now, is $1,682 57 per month, which is $148 57 more than by the volunteer system. Deducting the cost of the alarm bell, $1,000 per year, the cost of the paid department exceeds that of the volunteer only $65 14 per month. The property of the fire department is valued at $59.165.

"How MUCH MONEY SHOULD A WOMAN SPEND ANNUALLY FOR DRESS ?"-This important question has been going the rounds of the papers and magazines for several months past, and many attempts have been made to answer it. We have watched the progress of the discussion with considerable interest, weighed the various arguments, and decided that a lady should spend annually for dress—how much do you suppose reader? Why, just what she can afford, and not a cent more.

For Writing Without Pen or Ink Copying Leaves, Plants, Flowers, Pictures, Patterns for Embroidery, Marking Linen Indelibly, Manifold Writing.

THIS Article is absolutely the best portable Inkstand in the known world, for a small quantity folded and placed in the pocket consti-tutes a travelling Inkstand, which cannot be broken. No pen is needed, for any stick, sharpened to a point, writes equally as well as the best gold pen in the universe. For drawing it is indispensable. It is, indeed, the whole art of Drawing and Painting—taught in one lesson. Any leaf, plant, or flower can be transferred to the pages of an album, with a minute and distinct resemblance of onture. With equal facility, pictures and em-proidery patterns are taken, and have received the highest evlogiums from the fair sex; and, in deed, a more tasteful present for a lady could not be produced.

This Magic Paper will also mark Linen, or other articles, so as to remain perfectly indelible. All the washing in the world fails to bring it out Any child can use it with perfect ease. With this Magic Paper, likewise, one or four copies of every letter written can be secured without any additional labor whatever, making it the cheapest and most convenient article extant. It is used to great advantage by reporters of the public press, telegraphic operators, and hosts of

A Weekly Journal Published at Wash-'HE undersigned propose to commence about the first of June next, in the City of Washington, the publication of a weekly news-paper, to be called the Spectator, designed for reperal circulation among the people of the United States. Its columns will contain a full digest of the news of the day, foreign and domestic; a weekly review of finance and the markets; a synopsis of the proceedings of Congress during its session; tables of election returns; the important political action of State Legislatures, and of party conventions; interesting miscellaneous and scientific matter; articles on Agriculture, together with original articles upon the leading tonics of the day. Much valuable information relative to the operations of the Executive Departments, togemer with a weekly list of new patents, will be found in its columns. A large portion of its space will be devoted to light literature, original, and selected. Its location at the political centre of the Union, will afford opportunies always to procure the latest and most reliable information on public affairs. It is the intention of the undersigned to make the SPECTATOR an acceptable visiter to every house in the Union, and it will therefore not assume on any occasion the position of a partizan paper, nor will it owe any allegiance to men; lut Paper, nor will it owe any allegance to men; full the entertaining fixed and decided views on questions of political economy, and upon our system of government, it will disseminate and promulgate them as occasion may require—always keeping carefully n view the interests of the country, growing out of foreign as well as domestic affairs.

The Spectator will be printed in quarto form, n good paper and new type; each number con taining eight pages of matter, making one volume annually of 416 pages. Each volume will be ac companied by a full and comple index to its contents, thus making it a most valuable paper for preservation and reference. It will be published very Saturday morning, at $2 per annum, payable always in advance. No paper will be continued beyond the time for which it is paid.

All subscriptions and communications on business should be addressed to the undersigned at Washington, D. C. AUG. F. HARVEY & CO.
